

Orchid and Sword I

Why would the Japanese Emperor's treasure painting end up in China?
Orchid will have to fight her way to the truth...

<http://www.ddh3d.com>
<http://www.say-happy.com>
© DDH LLC Published: May 2010
ISBN-10: 1-60966-011-0
ISBN-13: 978-1-60966-011-6

Early summer, afternoon.

Orchid, riding her beloved horse "Skykick", She looks anxious, looking for something.

After a while, her face frowns, as she has not found anything.

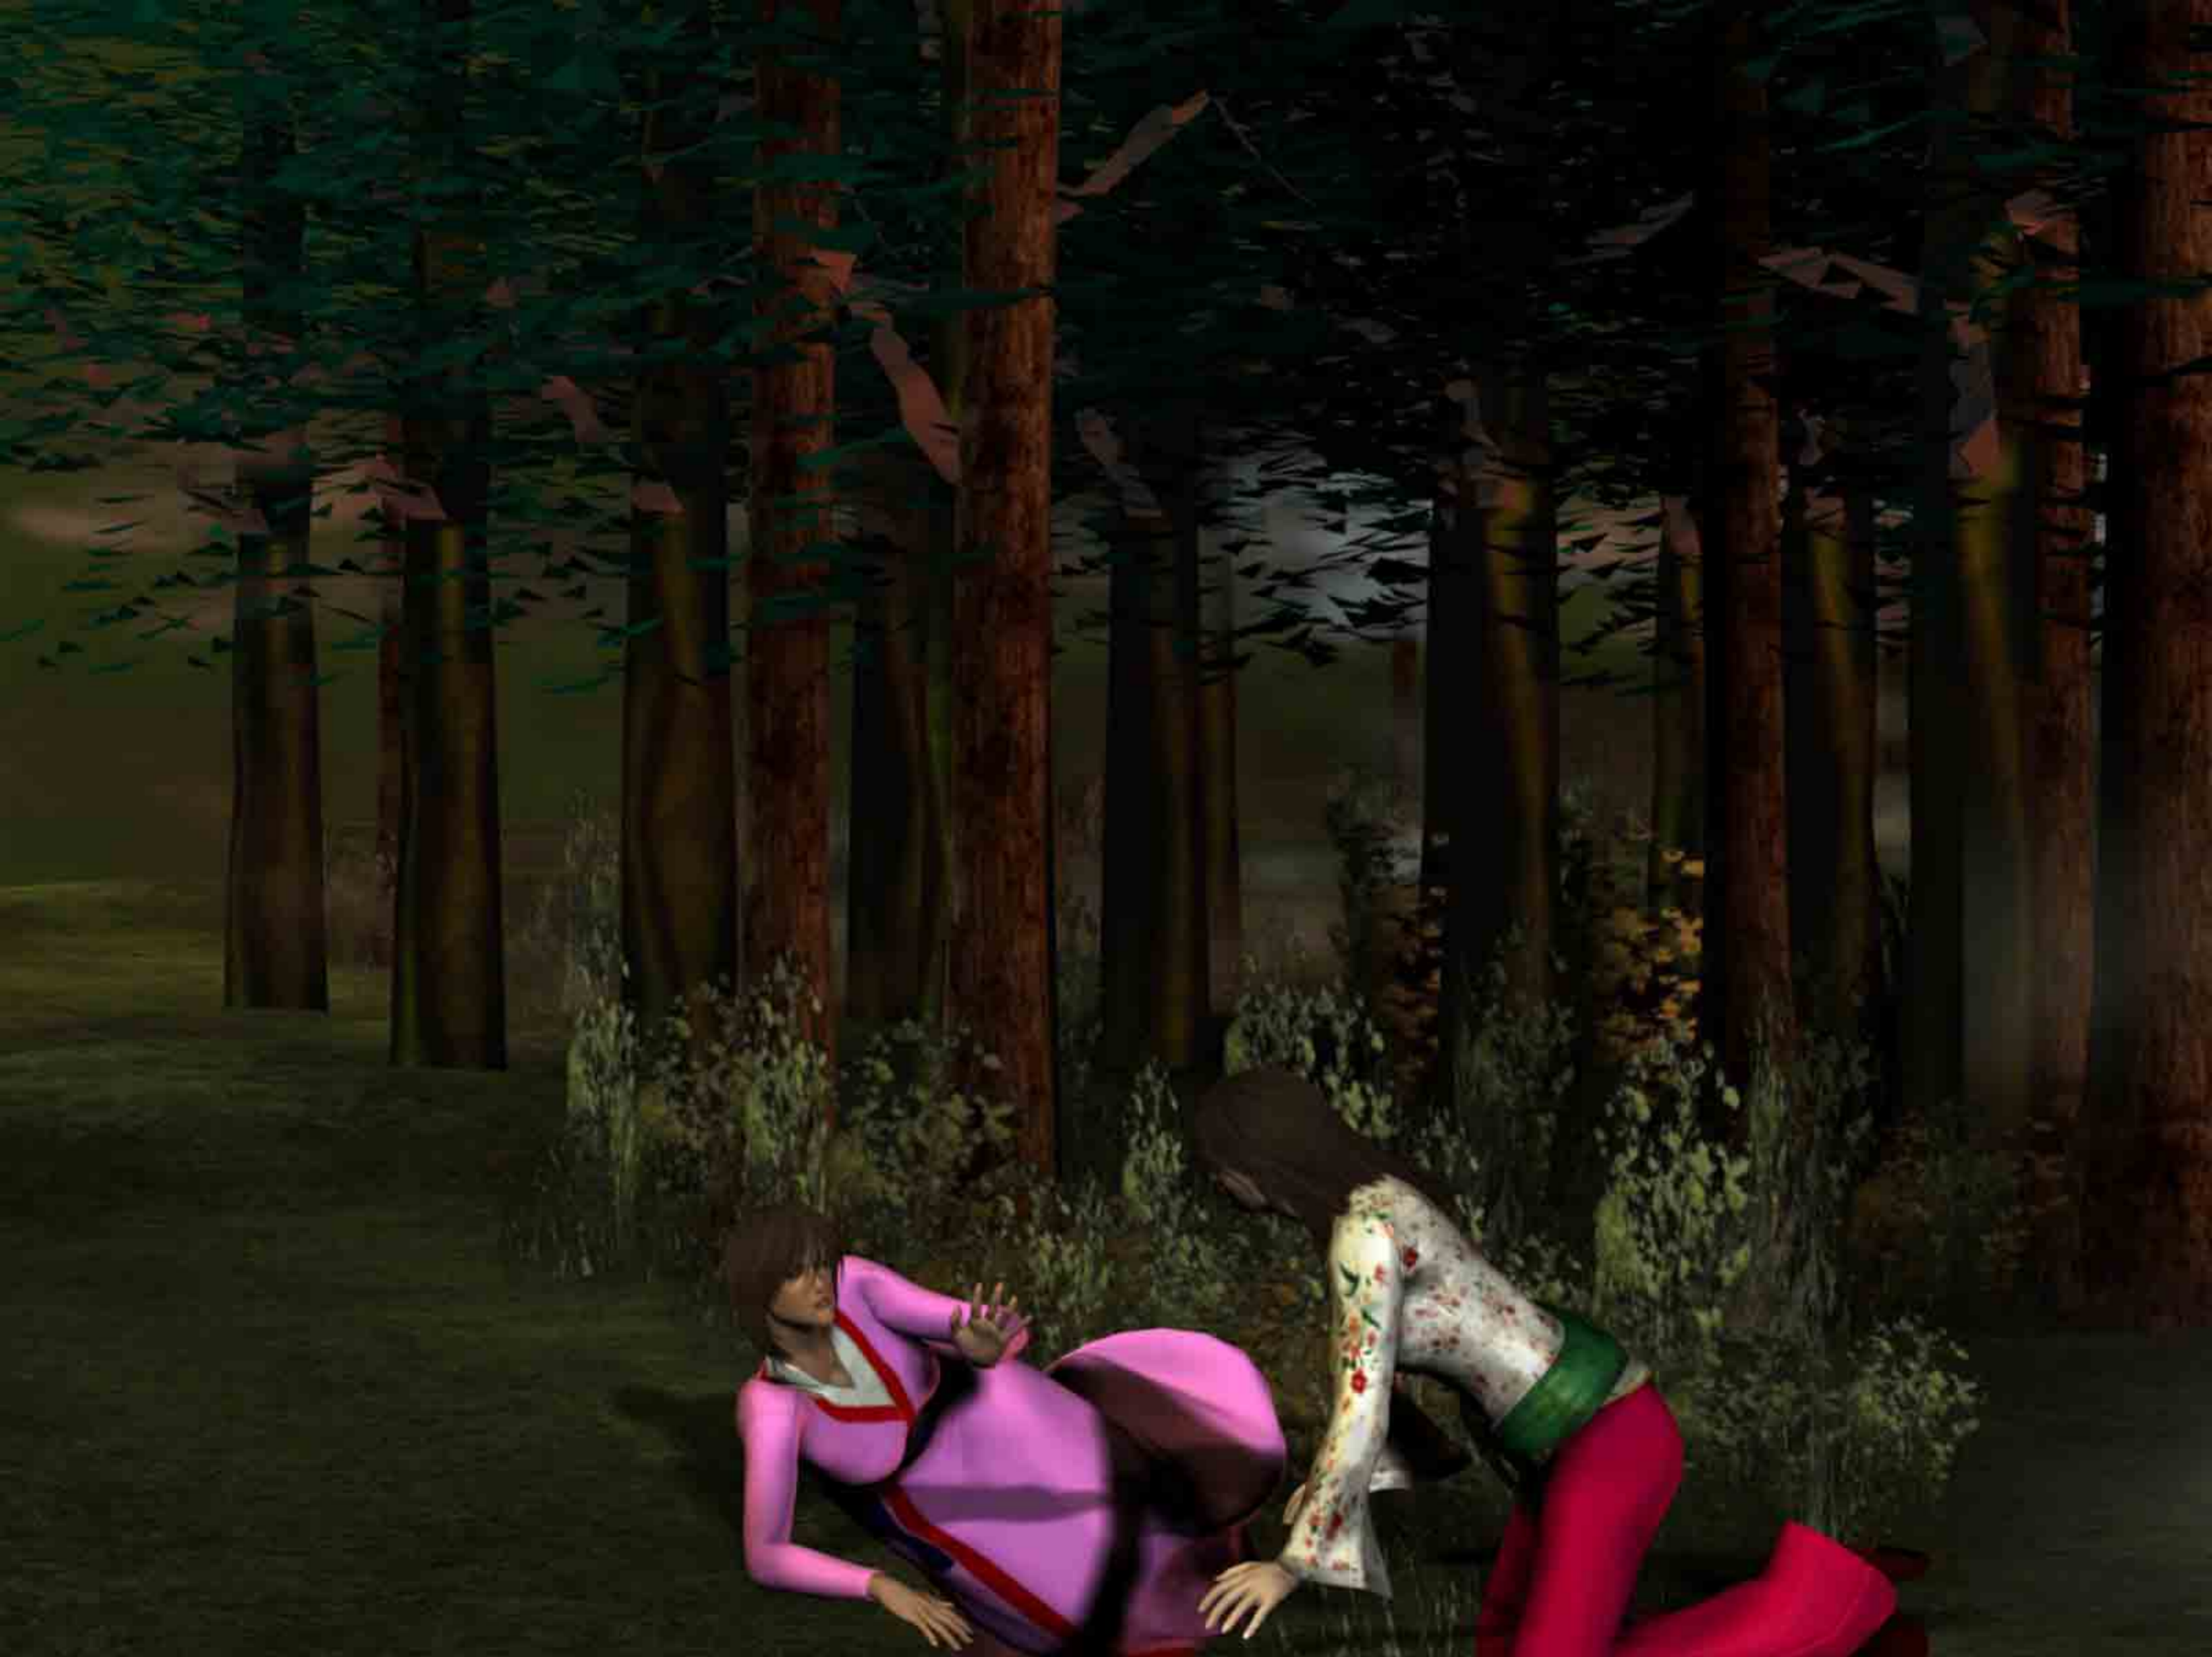

She rides into another dense forest, zigzagging between the trees.

Skykick's saddle glimmers under the sun stream penetrated through the trees.

Orchid slows down. Her eyebrows squinted, an unknown feelings surged inside her.

Orchid has found a girl laying on the ground.

Orchid: My sister! My dear sister!

Not even having the time to mourn, Orchid has sensed the killing chill behind her.